

CPIM

CERTIFIED IN PLANNING AND INVENTORY MANAGEMENT

Earning your CPIM certification shows employers that you know how to effectively manage risks and disruptions as well as leverage technology that uses data and streamlines processes.

When it comes to supply chain certifications, APICS is the gold standard. As an APICS CPIM designee, you will have the skills and knowledge it takes to get noticed by employers and stand out from your peers.

If you have any of these responsibilities, CPIM is right for you:

- Work with an ERP system, or other manufacturing systems and technologies
- Planning, at any level of the planning hierarchy
- Work with the Master Production Schedule and/or Materials Requirement Planning
- Manufacturing inventory management and control
- Plan procurement and external sources of supply
- Manufacturing finance

PROFESSIONAL GROWTH BEGINS HERE
